IC 592 — Internship - Exhibition Design

2 credits; 2 lecture hours

IC 592 OL is a customized, online course designed to support Exhibition Design Master's Program students' experiential learning during industry-specific internships taken for academic credit.

During their six-week summer internships requiring a minimum of 78 onsite internship hours, students develop their technical skills of exhibition design by gaining real-life work experience at exhibition-design companies, museums, or other industry-related organizations.
