

International Politics Minor

A minor in International Politics will deepen and expand a student's knowledge of the discipline. In these courses, students will develop a greater understanding of world politics by examining current and historical events and issues in the field. Students will learn how international actors—states, intergovernmental and nongovernmental organizations—interact with each other and/or create institutions for cooperation in order to maximize power and realize their ideals. The minor provides students with major theoretical approaches to critically analyze the development of the global polity, a knowledge base well-suited to all majors.

The following requirements below are intended for students beginning fall 2023.

To declare your minor, please speak to your academic advisor for assistance.

Minor Coordinators:

Praveen Chaudhry

praveen_chaudhry@fitnyc.edu

Yasemin Celik Levine

yasemin_levine@fitnyc.edu

Choose One (1) or Both of the Following Courses

SS 151 Global Power and Politics 3

SS 251 American Government and Politics 3

Select Three (3) or Four (4) of the Following Courses

FI 200/ Bollywood and the Making of India 3
SS 202

SS 341 Women and Global Politics 3

SS 352 Contemporary Western Europe 3

SS 353 Latin America Today 3

SS 354 Comparative Political Systems 3

SS 355 3

SS 356 Asia in Motion: National, International, and Transnational Relations 3

SS 393 Politics in the Middle East (Honors) 3

SS 395 International Conflict in the 21st Century (Honors) 3

SS 397 Religion and Global Politics (Honors) 3

Semesterly course offerings are subject to change.