FIT's Precollege Program offers an engaging and inclusive environment for high school and middle school students to explore the exciting realms of fashion, art, design, business, and technology. Through immersive, hands-on, and experiential remote courses led by experienced instructors and industry experts, students develop creative thinking, problem-solving skills, and practical experience while crafting distinctive portfolio pieces that help them stand out. This program provides a unique opportunity to connect with the latest trends, explore innovative technologies, and build a network with like-minded peers—all within FIT's vibrant and diverse community, which emphasizes diversity, equity, and inclusion. The Precollege Program prepares students for the FIT admissions process, offering invaluable insights into life at a world-renowned college. At FIT, students can discover their unique identities and find their space within the creative landscape. They immerse themselves in the cultural richness of New York City, a city that enhances both the college's history and the student experience, inspiring future careers in an ever-evolving industry.
